First, clean the part of body that you are going to stick tattoo stickers. And then wet the paper pasted on the back (called the bottom paper) of the tattoo stickers with water or put the tattoo stickers into the water. When you see the color of the bottom paper get darker, that is, when water permeability you can poste the tattoo stickers. When posting, put the patterned side of the tattoo stickers directly on the skin, and scratch the tattoo stickers with nails gently on the back. And finally tear off the bottom paper with the hand down the skin to let it slide down from the pattern. Later press the tattoo stickers with a towel, one is to go off water, second is to remove air bubbles. And it's done. Of course, if the tattoo stickers are designed with many highlights, you will need to rip up the bottom paper slowly to see whether the pattern id off or not. Then put the tattoo stickers down and then press.
